INTRODUCTORY SPEECH

Giving the Introductory Speech, Dr. Th. Priyogopal Singh, Librarian, SKWC stated that “National Library Day is celebrated in India on 12th of August every year in memory of the Birthday of Padmashree Prof. S.R. Ranganathan, the man who gave a lot of contribution in the field of Library & Information Science. This year this day is observed on the 129th Birth Anniversary of this great Professor who is also known as the Father of Library & Information Science.

He was a great Mathematician and Librarian of the country and also pioneer in the Library Movement of our country. The main objective of National Library Day is to bring awareness to people about the importance of library in our daily life and to encourage teachers, students and all works of people by popularizing the library and its role in providing information to them and society as a whole.

As a Librarian, it is our sole responsibility to honour such great man and his contribution towards the field of Library & Information Science of our country India and without his tired less effort the position of Library and Library Professionals will not grow as it is of now”.

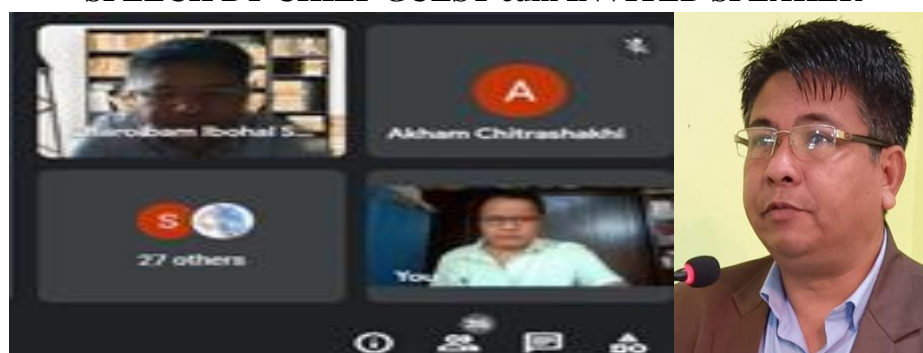

Altogether 41 participants took part this programme through online mode.
